

Hope Mallard Hen Parades Her Youngsters

—Contax 35mm photos, Alex. H. Washburn
These pictures were made Sunday in the "back 40" behind the editor's house where last summer he set up a miniature game preserve with Mallard ducks and Canada geese. Obviously things are happening this Spring.

One of the Mallard hens has eight ducklings and top picture shows them all on parade. Bottom photo shows the same group — or most of them.

Altogether there are at least 13 ducklings, belonging to two or three hens. But confusion piles upon confusion as new broods dash out of the tall grass purposely left on the south side of the preserve — and two more nests are being tended in the open.

There were eight ducklings in the picture Sunday—but now there are only seven. One little fellow drowned in the lagoon. Baby ducks can swim the moment they are hatched. But having no oil on their down they get waterlogged if permitted to paddle around too long. Incubator ducklings have to be kept away from deep water the first couple of weeks. But where a Mallard hen hatches her own, like these, she makes them dry out at intervals.

The editor has been checking the pool at feeding-time and keeps a dip-net handy on the stone wall so he can rescue any duckling swimming alone. But Monday one drowned before the editor arrived. The baby Mallard wasn't alone in disaster, however. The editor found the dip-net gone from the wall. It was floating in the water. And when he retrieved it there was a dead blackbird in it. The thief apparently tried to steal the net, got tangled, dragged it into the pool—and drowned.

The editor is sorry about the duckling. But that's all.

Lodge and Officials in V. Nam Review

By LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge scheduled meetings with military and civilian officials today in a broad review of Viet Nam problems.

After a session with President Johnson and the National Security Council Tuesday night, Lodge had appointments today with Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, South Vietnamese Ambassador Vu Van Thai and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Thursday the U.S. envoy and former Republican vice presidential nominee appears before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee headed by Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., a critic of the administration's Viet Nam policy. The committee session will not be public.

Official secrecy shrouded the substance of Lodge's talks, his first in Washington since he went to Saigon last August on his second ambassadorial assignment there.

Johnson shut off questions from newsmen while addressing them briefly after a 1½-hour Security Council meeting. Calling reporters to the White House Cabinet room where the meeting was held, and glancing at his top advisers still seated there, the President concluded by saying he had asked "these wise men" to supply him with all their information.

"I have it now," Johnson told newsmen, "and I have passed as much of it on to you as I could."

What Johnson passed on was limited to a few general statements. He praised Lodge as a dedicated public servant and termed his visit profitable.

The ambassador, Johnson said, had given a general analysis of the economic and political issues in Viet Nam. He said McNamara and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, had reported on the military situation, Secretary of State Dean Rusk had led a discussion of the political situation, and the President had reviewed his Far East policies.

Johnson told his top assistant on nonmilitary Vietnamese affairs, Robert Comer, to put task forces to work on various aspects of the situation to help the across-the-board review with Lodge.

There was no word on Lodge's personal plans. Originally sent to Saigon by President John F. Kennedy in June 1963, Lodge resigned a year later to join Republican forces opposing Barry Goldwater's bid for the party's presidential nomination. There have been unconfirmed reports that Lodge wants to leave his post again this summer.

The White House left open the possibility that it would have considerable more to say about Lodge's visit later.

Reds Gleeful Over Policy Criticism

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — While President Johnson stays rather quiet in public, but reportedly burns up in private over criticism of his Viet Nam war policy. Communists in Viet Nam have found a happy seesaw. Americans' criticism of their own government's policy makes it plain for all to see, including Communists, the deepening division in American thinking about the war.

It ranges all the way from stepping up the bombing of North Viet Nam to ending the bombing and pulling U.S. forces out altogether.

The North Vietnamese Reds can conclude from this the Johnson administration is not likely to pursue the war as fiercely as it might if American opinion was united on the need to crush the foe.

Therefore, it makes sense for the Communists to do all possible to encourage Johnson's critics by showing as well as they can through anti-American feeling in Viet Nam that the Vietnamese want the Americans out, too.

In the end they could hope to frustrate America's overwhelming power not by their own arms but by American public opinion at home.

But it would be crediting the Communists with too much resourcefulness, and distorting the attitude in Viet Nam itself, to suggest that all the anti-American feeling here is Communist-inspired. Apparently it is not.

One thing seems certain: The more intense the anti-Americanism heromes, the less reason the Johnson administration can give for staying in Viet Nam.

It is possible Johnson might have choked off much of the criticism here and in Viet Nam if months ago he himself had explained his policy, instead of letting aides do it, and conducted a far stronger war.

It seems too late now to speculate on that. But last week the President must have suffered a shock.

His long-time friend, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., one of the most influential men in Congress, suggested U.S. forces should be withdrawn if a survey of public opinion in the cities of Viet Nam showed a majority of the people opposed the American presence there.

Russell said: "This country can't win if it's fighting an enemy in front while the people it is supposed to be helping want U.S. forces to leave."

And Sunday, The Associated Press reported from Saigon, capital of South Viet Nam: In a May Day show crowds clamored for peace. One crowd of 7,000 farmers, dockworkers and students chanted in front of the U.S. Embassy: "Down with Americans."

The demonstrations, The AP said, took on an ominous meaning because, for the first time in years, organized anti-Americanism electrified the crowds and was tolerated by the authorities.

Further, the demonstrators seemed to represent a cross-section of the city's population. Buddhists were the backbone of the demonstrations while U.S. officials inclined toward the theory, they said, that the demonstrations were Communist-infiltrated.

The dragon symbolizes sin and paganism in Christian art.

Paid Fine Rather Than Kiss Hubby
NASHVILLE, Tenn., (AP)—It took Mrs. Herman E. Carver, 24, almost nine days to decide she would rather pay a fine than kiss her husband in court. But a sympathetic judge, Andrew Doyle, recognizing that "true love often needs an assist from the court," dismissed charges against the couple Tuesday after they pledged to kiss and make up in private. They had been brought to court for fighting.
Carver, 30, had agreed to kiss in court, but not his wife. She said, "I just didn't want to do it in front of all those people. I'm bashful."

Candidates for the scholarships must be the daughters of deceased veterans of World War I, World War II, or the Korean Conflict; must be seniors in high school; and must need financial assistance to continue their education. In addition, they must rank high in Americanism, scholarship, leadership, and character.

Gayle Williams ranks third in her senior class of 134 graduates. Grace Deeply Hurt by Magazine Story

NEW YORK (AP)—Princess Grace of Monaco says she was "deeply hurt" by a Time magazine report regarding her presence with Jacqueline Kennedy at a Red Cross ball in Sevilla, Spain, last month.
The former movie star said in a letter to the weekly news magazine that "what you call my frostiness and pique, was directed at some of the hundreds of photographers who spoiled the evening for many of us and certainly not for Mr. Kennedy, for whom I have admiration and respect."
"And let me add in refutation to your snide and unnecessary remarks that I am delighted to be upstaged by Mrs. Kennedy at any time."

NEW YORK (NEA)—Sud denly it's spring. Birds shed off their bright new feathers. But with little boys sartorial splendor takes a back seat. Off come coats and sweaters. Up go bothersome sleeves. Tight-fitting collars are quickly loosened.

But the situation is improving now that comfort is being built into boys' fashions. Young lads will find it easier to keep up appearances. Trim and tailored, the current designs leave young wearers free for the rough-and-tumble of the playground. They can feel like their old selves even in their Sunday best.

Because boys dream of the sea and sailing ships, there is a jaunty yachting jacket in nautical blue to be worn with turtle-neck cotton knit tops and white duck pants. Double-breasted with pearl button closings, this slips on with an easy fit. And its two patch pockets are roomy enough for the countless treasures only a boy could love.

Colorful plaids figure prominently in jackets worn with co-ordinated continental pants that have a grown-up look. All are made in sturdy but lightweight linen blends. The jackets are all the protection a young sportsman needs against a sudden spring chill.

Television and Radio

NEW YORK (AP)—Lyndon Baines Johnson's central Texas hills and the rich valley of the little Pedernales River—"a place where I could come and refill my cup, so to speak, and recharge myself for the more difficult days ahead" were shown to the nation Monday night. The President himself explained what it means to him.

"The Hill Country: Lyndon Johnson's Texas" was NBC's special program and the President, in a reminiscent mood, acted as tour guide in a camera trip that took viewers from the house in which he was born to the Johnsons' plot in a nearby cemetery.

"My first memory is on the banks of this river," said the President waving toward the Pedernales. "I remember running down and putting my feet in the water and watching the fish when I was 4 years old."

The President drove his car along the white dirt roads of the south central Texas strip called the hill country, pointing out the old filled stone fort where his grandfather and other settlers awaited Indian raids. He took us to the house where he was born, even showed the bed in which he arrived before a doctor could get there.

The tour included visits with his first school teacher and the one-room schoolhouse he attended and a favorite hangout, the Johnson City chili parlor. But the most interesting portions of the program came when the President was speaking with a warmth and informal manner about this homeland he loves.
"I feel comfortable here," he said. "I'm at home here. It gives me a serenity."

Blackboard by Wire Is Praised

By ANDREW JAFFE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A professor draws a circle on a tablet in his New York office. The circle appears simultaneously on television screens in classrooms around the country.

"The circumference equals the diameter times pi," drones the professor's television voice. And on the screen appears the formula: "D times 3.1416 equals C."

The technique, dubbed "blackboard-by-wire," is one of many that is revolutionizing modern teaching. It can connect many that is revolutionizing modern teaching. It can connect the poorest schoolhouse with brilliant scholars many miles distant.

The process was demonstrated Tuesday for technicians and educators by its developer, the General Telephone and Electronics Corp.

A company official seated on a hotel stage wrote an equation on his tablet. It was transmitted by telephone line to Erie, Pa., and then back again. In an instant, the equation appeared on several 23-inch television monitors.

A separate telephone line carried the official's commentary. The company plans to install transmitting equipment in test classrooms later this year. The equipment will sell for about $5,000. It connects, with a small adjustment, to standard television sets.

Unlike educational television, "blackboard-by-wire" utilizes neither costly coaxial cables nor limited-range airborne transmitters. Images are formed by electronic impulses, similar to those that produce photographic pictures over telephone lines for The Associated Press.

Besides its classroom uses, the system may become valuable to industry and military sources who want to confer graphically over long distances. In each case, the "black board" conversation can be kept as confidential as a telephone call.

Educators seemed impressed by the demonstration.

"We have been waiting for the television to get away from the talking face," commented Dr. Joseph Crenshaw, director of instruction for Florida's state department of education.

George Pennington, of the Hillsboro County school system in Florida regarded it as "blatantly" as an improvement.

"There will be no bright star on the screen, just figures," said Pennington.

Sometimes, unfortunately, television poses a threat to teachers who may appear just ordinary to their students after the show is over," he said.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"It'll never play in the South."

Throughout most of Hollywood's history, that comment has been offered for films concerning Negro themes and featuring Negro actors. Indeed, the fear of losing the Southern market, which has traditionally been a good one for films, has deterred many producers from undertaking projects with interracial overtones.

The situation is different now. Film companies report that films with Negroes can earn as much and in some cases more in the South than elsewhere in the nation.

Example: "A Patch of Blue," in which Negro Sidney Poitier befriends a blind white girl, Elizabeth Hartman, who falls in love with him.

"The picture was the second biggest grosser at the Loew's Theater in Atlanta—second only to a rerelease of 'Gone With the Wind,'" reports an MGM man recently returned from opening "A Patch of Blue" in the South.

"Our film exchange says there has been no resistance to booking the movie in Georgia, Alabama and other Southern states. Only one woman theater owner in New Orleans refused to play it."

Oddly, "A Patch of Blue" was given an art-house opening in New York and did disappointing business. But on the basis of excellent returns from the South, MGM is predicting a gross of $4 million-$5 million.

Only one concession was made to Southern audiences: the kiss between Poitier and Miss Hartman was cut.

The MGM man explained: "We showed the kiss in a test screening with Southerners, and there was such a gasp that it was decided to eliminate the kiss. It wasn't important to the story, anyway."

Another film starring Poitier, "A Slender Thread," has also been booked extensively through the South.

"We encountered no difficulty at all with Southern theaters," says Paramount studio head Howard Koch. "And the returns from the South on 'A Slender Thread' have been proportionate to the rest of the country."

Piranha Ante?
Tell The SPCA
Dear Helen: Does the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals cover fish?
There is a new bar gambling game called Piranha Ante, and I think it should be stopped! Everybody bets a dollar and then the bartender drops one of those fierce piranhas into a tank of goldfish. If he eats the goldfish YOU bet on, you win. The poor things are living bait.
This is worse than cock fights—at least the roosters have a fighting chance. And I imagine fish hurt too, even if fishermen don't like to think about it. — Shocked.

Schocked: Call your local SPCA. And I'd suggest that if your bloodthirsty bartender wants to make bets on his piranha he should put his own ten fingers in the fish tank, for bait. — H.

Dear Helen: You were downright cruel in your reply to "20-Year Widow with a Live Husband." You said widow-wives don't rate much sympathy with you because "there is always something they can do, if they have the gumption to make a decision and stick to it."

If you, Helen, have a kind, understanding, cooperative, loving, sweet, self-sacrificing, obedient, spiritual husband... (Stop the music friend: if THIS is what you think all husbands should be, you HAVE got a problem! — H.)... you should thank Heaven for your lucky break. I'm sure you don't possess any finer qualities than some of us who just happened to get stuck with a louse.

Decision? If you mean leave him, State law differs. We would be left with nothing to live on. See a counselor? He ties my hands with his sarcasm, saying it isn't HE who needs one. He can see no fault in himself.

I have a husband who is a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, taking all his hostilities out on me, hiding his cruelty in subtle ways, keeping God and me at arm's length. I could fill several pages telling you the kind, thoughtful, religious front he has, and how it is ruining lives through his deceitfulness but I won't take time. There will be a day of judgment for the wicked. His day will come!

If a man commits adultery, is an alcoholic or has obvious vices, at least his sins are obvious and the wife can get sympathy. But when he is a troublemaker who loves to burden others secretly, what can a poor wife do except be a good Christian and hope his sins will someday find him out. To the world, he is a "wonderful person," not to me.

Why don't you show a bit of pity to those who need an understanding friend? Don't be so sarcastic and caustic in your remarks. It doesn't make you look feminine, refined or compassionate. — Christian Wife.

Dear Wife: What did I SAY? Only that women with gumption are mistresses of their own destiny. They don't have to wallow in self-pity—or play the saint to their husbands' sinner, which could turn almost any Dr.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of Hope Star.

More Incentive in Tournament at New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — In addition to the $100,000 purse in the Greater New Orleans-Open Golf Tourney, eight pros have a good crack at some lagniappe — which is Louisiana French for an added extra special tidbit.

The lagniappe for the tournament which gets under way Thursday over the demanding Lakewood Country Club course, is the Seymour Weiss All-American Gold Cup, plus $5,000 cash.

Weiss, a retired hotel man and onetime associate of the late Huey P. (Kingfish) Long, annually puts up the cup and cash for the pro having the lowest aggregate score for the U.S. Open, PGA, Masters and Greater New Orleans Open tournaments.

The runner-up gets $2,500 and the No. 3 finisher $1,000. Going into this year's tourney here, big Jack Nicklaus has 869 strokes for the 1965 Open and PGA tourneys, plus this year's Masters.

The other seven within striking distance are slimmed down Billy Casper at 870, young Raymond Floyd at 871, Doug Sanders at 872, Gay Brewer Jr., 874, Julius Boros 876, Gardiner Dickinson Jr., 878 and Frank Beard 879.

Detroit Nips Indians, Chisox Lose to Orioles

Valentines everywhere have their day in February, but Washington's Valentine has had two in May.

He certainly didn't have any March. This Valentine, named Fred, lashed four hits for the second straight game Tuesday night, sparking the Senators to a 4-1 victory over California.

Rapping eight hits in his last 10 times at bat, Valentine has raised his average 71 points, from .229 to .300. He battered around pitching for three singles and a homer Monday night, then came back Tuesday night with a single, two doubles and a triple.

Life wasn't so romantic for Valentine during spring training. In the last three weeks of March, he was hit by baseballs five times, and he hit a catcher once and a wall once.

The other three American League games ended 3-2. Baltimore edged Chicago in 12 innings. Kansas City trimmed Boston in 10 and Detroit nipped Cleveland in nine. Rain washed out New York at Minnesota.

In the National League, San Francisco edged Pittsburgh 2-1 in 15 innings. Los Angeles whipped Philadelphia 6-1. Cincinnati swept Atlanta 8-2 and 8-0. New York stopped Houston 7-4 and St. Louis crushed Chicago 8-0.

Valentine's lusty performance provided more than enough support for Pete Richert, who stopped the Angels on three hits. Valentine tripped and scored in the first inning and triggered a two-run eighth with a double.

Brooks Robinson singled in the 12th inning and scored Baltimore's winning run as Russ Snyder grounded into a force out. J. C. Martin's passed ball put Robinson at third. Another Robinson, Chicago's Floyd, ignited a two-run rally in the seventh that tied the game 2-2.

Pork Coaches Developing Two Positions

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Writer

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas' coaching staff is spending considerable time this spring trying to develop replacements for two of last season's top players—tailback Bobby Burnett and split end Bobby Crockett.

Those are two of the key positions in Coach Frank Broyles' "I" formation attack, with the tailback battering the center of the line and the split end keeping defenses honest with mostly down and out sideline patterns.

Two big sophomores are battling for the tailback spot while two veterans and a sophomore are fighting for the start berth at split end.

"We've run the tailback or thrown to the split end all spring," Broyles said. "We've got to develop replacements for Burnett and Crockett."

Bruce Maxwell, a 200-pounder from Pine Bluff, and David Dickey, a 200-pounder from Palestine, Tex., are getting the intensive treatment at tailback.

The split end battle is among 200-pound senior Tommy Burnett of Smackover, 190-pound junior Tommy Trantham of Little Rock and 170-pound sophomore David Cox of Dallas.

Broyles says the tailback slashes through the line are optional plays, with the back trying to pick out the soft spot in the line and hitting it for yardage.

"Bobby Burnett got to where he broke for the soft spot practically every time," Broyles said. "We've run Dickie and Maxwell hundreds of times this spring, stressing the finding of the soft spot."

Bobby Burnett hammered for more than 900 yards last season and earned All-Southwest Conference honors. He fumbled only once, quickly recovering it in the opening game.

Broyles says Dickie and Maxwell have followed the no fumble pattern this spring. Dickie's only fumble came in last week's Red-White game at Little Rock and it was on a wide play.

Dickie gained 80 yards on 21 carries and Maxwell 55 on 21 carries last week.

Broyles says Tommy Burnett has tremendous speed, but could catch the ball a little better if he had stronger hands.

Trantham, an All-SWC defensive halfback last fall, is making the switch this spring and Broyles says he's still just learning. Broyles said he would continue to work Trantham on defense to have him ready for September's season opener.

"Cox is quick as he can be," Broyles says. "He has quick moves."

Broyles says it will likely be September before Crockett's successor is determined.

Crockett was an All-SWC choice last year, gaining more than 400 yards on pass receptions and earning the Associated Press lineman of the week honor for his performance against Texas.

The Mouth Is Singing a New Song

By GRANVILLE WATTS
LONDON (AP) — Cassius Clay is singing a new song. It goes like this:

London Bridge is falling down, falling down, falling down, falling down, falling down, falling down, falling down, falling down.

Henry Cooper's falling down, poor old Henry. It would be world heavyweight champion Clay's signature tune for his May 21 title fight with Cooper at London's Arsenal Soccer Stadium.

Cooper, naturally, has his own musical arrangement. Singing apart, Clay got down to some serious training Tuesday in the gymnasium of the 10th Parachute Regiment at London's White City Stadium.

Clay thumped the 83-pound heavy bag he brought with him. Then he told newsmen: "I didn't hit a heavy bag before the (George) Chuvalo or (Floyd) Patterson fights."

"The hardest thing I hit in those fights was my opponents. In Toronto my hands were bad. The bag didn't make the journey and Chuvalo stayed the long trip. I made a mess of him, but he stayed."

"Last time I used the bag was in Lewiston, and Liston went in a minute."

Asked if this was likely to happen to Cooper, Clay replied in his new-found modest style: "I'm not a boaster and a prophet any more."

Clay said he had injections in Miami, Fla., and his hands are as good as new.

"I'll hit Cooper real good from the start. I ain't going to mess around."

Clay boxed three rounds Tuesday with his chief sparring partner, Jimmy Ellis.

The sparring contrasted sharply with Clay's work before the Chuvalo fight.

Instead of wrestling at close quarters and building up resistance to body punches, he concentrated on moving smart and throwing barrages of left jabs.

Meanwhile, British champion Cooper steps up his training today with the aid of American sparring partner, Jimmy Fletcher, who flew in from California.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Harding College of Searcy, Ark., placed sixth Saturday in the NAIA national bowling championships. Omaha University won its second straight title with 16,289 pins.

Harding had 14,945 pins. Paul Petersen and Tom Urbanek of Concord, W. Va., beat Johnny Beck and Larry Yurchow of Harding 419-328 for the doubles title.

Figuring the Major Leagues

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Figuring The Majors: Matty Alou of Pittsburgh, the least publicized of the Alous, is leading his brothers in batting with a .333 average. Felipe Alou of Atlanta has a .300 mark while Jesus of San Francisco is at .213. The Pirates obtained Matty from the Giants last winter.

Al Dark, the new Kansas City manager, must be wondering what he has to do to get his players to hit one out of the park. In their first 20 games through Sunday, the last-place Athletics had a total of only one home run. It was hit by Larry Stahl, a pinch hitter, on April 28.

Jim Lefebvre of the Los Angeles Dodgers is considerably ahead of his home run pace of 1965 when he was named the National League's rookie-of-the-year. He had eight homers in his first 25 games this year. Last season, Lefebvre did not hit homer No. 8 until his 106th game on Aug. 5. He finished with 12.

Long baseball games are still considerably more frequent than short ones. Only eight games this season have been completed in less than two hours compared with 29 that have taken more than three hours to finish.

Ed Kranepool, the New York Mets' first baseman, has gone hitless in his last 24 times at bat covering eight games. His batting average has dwindled from .303 to .175.

Sonny Jackson, Houston's rookie shortstop, may threaten the National League Stolen base supremacy of the Dodgers' Maury Wills. The latter, who has led the NL in each of the past six years, has eight steals this season. Jackson is the pacesetter with 11.

Koufax Downs Phils, Giants Edge Prates

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Quick, sprinkle salt on their tails before the Los Angeles Dodgers steal the National League pennant again.

Walt Alston's go-go boys and their chief second story man, Maury Wills, ran all around the Philadelphia Phillies Tuesday night with their oldtime speed, and their oldtime Sandy Koufax producing a 6-1 victory.

Wills stole three bases, Lou Johnson two and Ron Fairly one but Alston denied the six steals meant Los Angeles would be running regularly now.

"Sometimes you can run," Alston said, "and sometimes you can't. That's the way we're going to play it too. We're going to keep them guessing."

Koufax, whose lengthy holdout cut deeply into his spring training, pitched a strong six-hitter, striking out 10 and winning his fourth game in five decisions.

Elsewhere in the National League Tuesday, St. Louis blanked Chicago 8-0, Cincinnati swept a doubleheader from Atlanta 8-2, 8-0, San Francisco edged Pittsburgh 2-1 in 15 innings and New York bested Houston 7-4.

In the American League, Detroit nipped Cleveland 3-2, Baltimore shaded Chicago 3-2 in 12 innings. Kansas City downed Boston 3-2 in 10 innings and Washington defeated California 4-1.

Fairly's two-run double was the big hit for the Dodgers in the first inning as they gave Koufax a quick 3-0 lead against Chris Short. That was all Sandy needed.

Orlando Cepeda, acquired from the Giants just two days earlier, poled his first homer for St. Louis and three other Cardinal homers made it easy for Bob Gibson, who pitched a six-hitter. Gibson, Mike Shannon and Curt Flood hit the other homers.

Jim Maloney and Milt Pappas pitched the Reds to their sweep over the Braves, who managed just seven hits in the double-header.

Maloney, out two weeks with an arm ailment, gave Atlanta a pair of first inning runs in the opening game and then shut them out on one hit until the eighth when Don Nottebaume came in to finish up. Pappas hurled a four-hitter in the nightcap.

After 30 Years, U.S. Files Suit

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Anthony Mangiaracina pleaded guilty 30 years ago to a charge of operating a still. He was fined $500 and received a one-year prison sentence which later was reduced to five months. A recent routine check of U.S. district court files disclosed the man allegedly had never been seen.

The government filed suit yesterday for recovery from Mangiaracina, now 49, of $1,657.70, which includes the interest charge on the unpaid fine.

'Outbursts' Does Not Ease Concern

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper said today "emotional public outbursts" against the U.S. stand in South Viet Nam are not going to ease public concern about the Asian war.

With Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara due for another televised session before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the Iowa senator said for all the talk of Viet Nam, "there's still considerable confusion."

"And I think we're all looking for some answers," Hickenlooper said in an interview.

Meanwhile, the committee said Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, will testify Thursday on the Southeast Asian war at a closed hearing.

Lodge, back from Saigon for consultations, conferred Tuesday night with President Johnson.

Hickenlooper said he thinks the time has come for the Foreign Relations Committee to hold quiet, detailed discussions of the $3.4-billion foreign aid bill.

But he said the harsh words about Viet Nam probably will rage on as long as the committee holds public, televised sessions on the foreign aid measure, he told Sen. J. W. Fulbright.

Hickenlooper said he privately, the chairman, that he thinks the committee should get down to the details of foreign aid in private sessions.

Fulbright said he hopes today's McNamara appearance will mark the end of public testimony on the aid bill.

Hickenlooper said the public arguments do not answer questions about the aid program or about the Vietnamese situation.

"I don't think we can solve it by emotional, public outbursts," he said.

Foreign aid, the announced topic at an explosive round of committee hearings, has been all but obscured by the raging debate over American policy on Viet Nam.

Committee Democrats have done most of the debating. It was that way Monday when Secretary of State Dean Rusk testified. Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.), addressing his words to the television audience, said the voters should repudiate President Johnson next November if he does not change the American posture in Southeast Asia.

Al Capone Jr. Changes Name

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Albert Francis Capone Jr. has changed his name. From now on he will be known simply as Albert Francis.

The son of prohibition-era gangster Al Capone said Monday his father's infamous reputation had made him a target for the press.

Judge Mel Clayton, granting the petition said: "The court acknowledges the admonition of the Bible that the sins of the fathers are often visited upon the sons."

Would Stop Late White House Parties

By KELLY SMITH
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. H.R. Gross says the Johnson administration's "mink coat set" should cut out its 3 a.m. White House parties and swingling Watutis in the Smithsonian.

"If they want to do this, I suggest they renovate one of the burlesque halls for which Washington is fairly notorious," the Iowa Republican said.

"I don't think with a war going on, and the problems this government has to face, that the President of the United States — his family or the vice president — ought to spend time dancing until 3 in the morning."

Gross first made observations on the House floor Tuesday, then elaborated in an interview.

Referring to the opera ball, a midnight dinner-dance for 1,000 held last Friday in the Smithsonian Institution's Museum of History and Technology, he said:

"I was amazed and shocked that they had a $75 to $100 per ticket dance at the Smithsonian with the Rev. (Bill D.) Moyers doing the Watutis and Frug and one woman sent home to get dressed because she was half naked."

Moyers, White House press secretary who is an ordained Baptist minister, was indeed doing the Watutis, as were a dozen ambassadors, half the Cabinet, a number of congressional leaders and their wives.

Mrs. Rudolph E. Carter, wife of a State Department officer, showed up wearing a transparent white lace dress with only a flesh-colored body stocking underneath. Some of her fellow members of the ball's executive committee sent her home to get on a slip. She did.

"I guess Washington isn't ready for fashion yet," she said afterwards. "This dress was created by a New York designer especially for this party."

Her husband said, "At first, I was shocked by it. But I figured, 'Oh well, it's fashion. Let her wear it.' It's much sexier without the slip."

The ball is an annual fund raiser, and since part of the money was for the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, a Smithsonian satellite, the champagne dance was held in the museum.

In place of the artifacts exhibits, there were tables in the main corridors for Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and his wife, the Robert F. Kennedy's former ambassador to the Soviet Union, Llewellyn E. Thompson, the Myers, Mrs. Edward M. Kennedy, Mrs. Nicholas Katzenbach and others.

Many of the same crowd were at a White House party April 27 in honor of Danish Prime Minister Jens Otto Krag and his wife which lasted until 3 a.m.

"I'm not anti-dancing," insists Gross. "But I don't think the President or vice president should be carrying on till morning. Add I don't see why the Smithsonian should be made available for this kind of gyrating."

Memorial Day first became a national holiday in 1968.

See Backlash on Critics of War Policy

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Some influential politicians say they are beginning to read grass roots signs that sharpening attacks on President Johnson's Viet Nam policies may rebound on his critics.

There is a growing feeling that continued attacks are likely to arouse sympathetic support for the President from citizens who are not so interested in how the United States got tangled up in Viet Nam as how it can extricate itself honorably.

The men around Johnson disagree vigorously with Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., that if the issue of the "illegality of U.S. conduct" in South Viet Nam were put to the voters the administration's position would be repudiated.

Morse Monday demanded public hearings on the legality of the U.S. presence in Viet Nam. He said only next fall's elections can prevent escalation of the war.

Johnson, a devotee of polls, is convinced he has majority support for continuing the war on a restricted basis. He has taken pains to make it clear he discounts it as an issue likely to topple Democrats — particularly those who support him — in the November voting on Senate and House races.

Republicans in Congress think it will be a major issue. But they are divided on how to handle it.

House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford favors pressing charges that the administration has been mismanaging the war. But Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen wants the issue of a frustrating war to speak for itself, without Republican prompting.

Outside of Congress, Barry Goldwater, the 1964 GOP presidential nominee, and Richard M. Nixon, the 1960 nominee, have resailed Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Goldwater said Fulbright had been giving "aid and comfort to the enemy" in his criticism of Johnson policies. He called for Fulbright to resign as committee chairman.

Nixon said that if the country should follow "the arrangement line of Sen. William Fulbright in Viet Nam we will be in World War III within four to five years."

Monday, Nixon called Fulbright's description of Saigon as "an American brothel" an irresponsible libel against American forces in Saigon and the South Vietnamese. He said he would gladly contribute to a fund to send Fulbright to Saigon so he could tell it to the Marines.

There is an undercurrent of feeling among his colleagues that Fulbright has gone to extended lengths in his criticism. His "American Brothel" comment was privately deplored by some of his friends.

Sen. Gale W. McGee, D-Wyo., newest committee member and an administration supporter, put it into words Monday when he said critics of the U.S. position in Viet Nam have been talking in extreme terms.

When McGee accused critics of putting Secretary of State Dean Rusk on trial, Fulbright replied tartly: "We're delighted to have you come here to give us instructions."

At the end of Monday's session with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Rusk reached through a crowd of reporters to shake hands with Fulbright.

"See you," said Fulbright. The salutation may have been as much a threat as a promise, for the committee is considering reopening its Viet Nam hearings.

Belief Grows Cong Getting Set for Fight

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — There is growing belief that the Viet Cong and more than 20,000 recent reinforcements from North Viet Nam will come out of hiding soon and fight.

They have been lying low for weeks. One reason, American military men say, is that the Communists have been critically short of supplies. They have been hurt by the repeated search-and-destroy sweeps by allied ground forces and incessant U.S. air strikes.

The Reds are thought to be regrouping and resupplying to take the initiative with the onset.

Military sources say that weather prevents the Americans from providing ground forces with full-scale air cover and support.

The monsoon season, just beginning, runs into August.

Some military men argue that instead of a single massive offensive, the Communists will make many small-scale attacks. The most probable targets are allied outposts along the Laotian and Cambodian frontiers.

Military sources say that Cambodia is where some of the infiltrating North Vietnamese have joined Viet Cong units and sought sanctuary from American guns. Some branches of the Ho Chi Minh Trail from the north end there.

In recent weeks, however, the United States has ruled out Cambodia as a sanctuary. Artillery and infantrymen have fired across the border when attacked from Cambodia.

To counter this, intelligence reports say, the Communists have pulled back into Cambodia about 20 miles. The monsoon drives are expected from these new sanctuaries.

One particularly sensitive spot, long a Viet Cong stronghold, is the French-named C Zone just inside South Viet Nam along the Cambodian border.

American infantrymen have repeatedly swept through this area and destroyed huge caches of supplies but have made only minor contact with the enemy. The giant B52 bombers also have subjected the area to incessant heavy bombing.

U.S. intelligence is reasonably sure that more than 20,000 North Vietnamese have entered South Viet Nam and neighboring Laos and Cambodia since the first of the year.

Best Drill, Says Coach of Porkers

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks started their final week of spring football practice with what Coach Frank Broyles called, "probably the best Tuesday practice we've had."

Chilly weather helped, he said.

Broyles praised the work of three tailbacks—David Dickey, Bruce Maxwell and Steve Higgins—during a 30-minute scrimmage.

Dickey scored a touchdown on a two-yard plunge and quarterback Gordon Norwood circled left end for nine yards and another touchdown. Steve Millz kicked field goals of 29 and 27 yards, and added an extra point.

Spring practice ends Friday with a Red-White game here.

Sinden Takes Over Bruins' Coaching

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Bruins' youth movement to regain respectability in the National Hockey League was complete today with 33-year-old Harry Sinden taking over as coach and Milt Schmidt abandoning the bench to move into the front office.

"Harry is young, but he is the type who will step in and have the respect of the players," Schmidt said Tuesday after Sinden was promoted from a playing-coach role at Oklahoma City in the Central League.

"Our big problem now is to determine which 19 players we will protect in the NHL draft," Bruins president Weston Adams said. "We have caught up in player development. For the first time in 10 years we have a solid group of young players throughout our organization."

The Boston youth kick began to pay off last season when the Bruins finished fifth, escaping the league cellar for the first time in six years. However, the club failed to make the Stanley Cup playoffs for the seventh straight campaign.

Schmidt, who has spent 31 of his 48 years in the Bruins' organization, voluntarily assumed a full-time post as assistant to general manager Hap Emms after coaching the club in 10 of the last 11 seasons. He will be groomed to succeed the 62-year-old Emms.

Tanneberger Taken in by Porkers

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Ricky Tanneberger, 6-foot-4 all-Class AAA basketball player from Little Rock Central, signed a pre-enrollment application with the University of Arkansas Tuesday.

Tanneberger led the Tigers to the AAA state championship and was voted the most valuable player in the AAA tournament.

Again the Ivy League colleges have made their selections. Letters have gone out to all who applied for entrance next fall. Altogether, there were 49,002 applications. Acceptances were sent to 13,997. The other, 71 per cent of all who applied, were rejected. By the time school opens the number accepted will shrink to a total of 9,165 freshmen, because of duplicated applications and changed plans.

Jim asked his father: "What is the principal difference between no-trump and suit play?"

Oswald: "At a trump contract you start by studying the trump suit to see if you can afford to draw trumps to start with. It is a pretty good rule that if a defender opens a trump, declarer should be careful about playing more trumps himself."

Jim: "It also pays to try to figure out why your opponent makes his opening lead. On this hand, internationalist Lew Mathe studied the dummy carefully. The simple way to play the hand would be to draw trumps and go after diamonds but slams don't sprout from nothing and Lew decided that West's trump opening indicated that he held plenty of diamonds behind Lew's bid. Also, Lew was well aware of the old saying: 'If both sides play the same suit, one is crazy.' Lew won the trump in dummy, led a diamond to his ace, entered dummy with the ace of spades and played a second diamond from dummy."

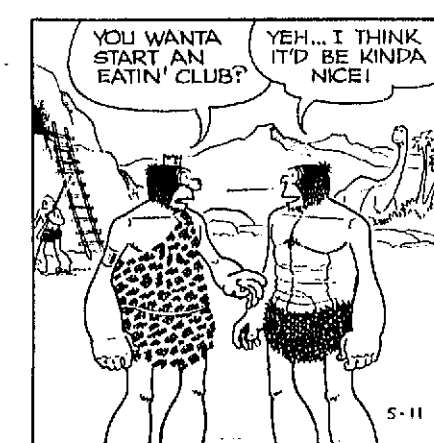

Oswald: "This settled East's and West's hash. If East ruffed in he would be ruffing one of South's losing tricks. If East failed to ruff, South would win and play a third diamond. In either case he would be able to ruff a fourth diamond in dummy later."

Jim: "If East had held the four diamonds instead of West, Lew might have gone down on his line of play but Lew was right at the table and obviously knew enough about West's style of play to be certain that his trump lead indicated diamond strength not shortness."

Face Eight Americans Say Viet Nam Is Confused

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Americans consider the Vietnamese a little confused, with their anti-one another scuffling in the midst of war, some of the things going on here must look a little mixed up to the Vietnamese.

For months they've heard President Johnson's Viet Nam policy scolded in and out of Congress, with no one more than Sen. J. W. Fulbright doing the berating.

This Arkansas Democrat is chairman of the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee and "arrogant" has become one of his favorite words to describe U.S. foreign policy.

Through it all, Johnson has maintained a starchy silence, more or less, never tangling head-on with Fulbright although this week at a White House reception he tried to be humorous indirectly.

He did it not with a speech but with a note which, he said, his cook wrote. Fulbright and his wife were there and Johnson told Fulbright:

If there's any arrogance of power in the White House it's in the kitchen. He pulled a penciled note out of his pocket, the one he said was written by his cook, Zephyr Wright.

The cook told her boss, Johnson, that she was going to be his boss for a while and ordered him to take off weight by eating the food she put in front of him.

This didn't discourage Fulbright, as he proved Thursday night in another attack. But, meanwhile, Johnson suddenly found a sturdy supporter against Fulbright in Barry Goldwater, whom Johnson defeated for the presidency in 1964.

Goldwater in a very blunt speech Thursday demanded that Fulbright resign as his committee's chairman. No American, Goldwater said, has the right to call the United States "imperial, imperialistic and arrogant."

This was turning the tables on Fulbright who, after the Republicans won control of Congress in the 1946 elections, suggested President Harry S. Truman follow the British parliamentary system and resign so a Republican could take over.

Truman ignored Fulbright's advice then, just as Fulbright's most surely will ignore Goldwater's now.

But, having tried to massacre Fulbright, Goldwater then tried to take the skin off Johnson from a dozen different directions which ranged from criticizing his handling of the Vietnamese war to criticizing his handling of problems at home.

Paying no attention to the take-charge cook in the White House or to Goldwater, either, Fulbright was at it again Thursday night in a 19-page speech in which he said the Vietnamese capital of Saigon has become an American brothel.

He said it was the result of the "fatal impact" of the "rich and the strong on the poor and the weak."

Doubting the ability of a strong nation to create stability in a small and chaotic Asian one, Fulbright resorted to a Chinese proverb to make his point: "In shallow waters dragons become the sport of the shrimps."

Then he outlined a policy of conciliation toward Red China but never got around to explaining what should be done if the Chinese ignore such efforts and insist on a Communist world.

Nomination By a Head

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — A State Senate candidate, Robert Haner of Albuquerque, has won his nomination by a head.

Haner and Mrs. Irene Mathias tied with 898 votes each in last Tuesday's Democratic primary election for the District 39 Senate nomination. They waived their right to a recount in favor of deciding the tie vote by a coin toss.

The coin was flipped Monday by Dist. Court Judge John Memanus and it came up heads, giving the nomination to Haner.

Robbery Failed Makes a Deal

LEWISTON, Idaho (AP) — Service station attendant Gilbert Spaulding was confronted recently by a man wielding a rifle and ordered to empty the till, police said.

Spaulding complied and the robber stuffed the loot in his pockets. But Spaulding managed to grab the rifle and took back the money.

The robber, police said, begged for his rifle to be returned. He told Spaulding he was broke.

Spaulding bought the loaded rifle for $20.

The horse said to have conveyed Mohammed from earth to heaven was named Al Borak.

LAC Hearing to Be Televised

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A Little Rock television station may telecast the entire proceedings of Legislative Joint Auditing Committee hearings into the illegal pay raises in the state Highway Department.

Robert Doubleday, general manager of KATV, said the committee has given permission for the telecast but technical details must be worked out.

The hearings are scheduled to begin at May 27, at 9 a.m.

Theory Age by Those Not in Charge

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — This has become a golden age for theories — by people who don't have to carry them out — on how President Johnson should handle foreign affairs better. The critics have never got off his back.

Two of the most prominent of them — historian Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr., and Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark. — had their say recently. As usual, they not only wound up being vague but didn't see eye to eye, either.

Schlesinger made one of the harshest attacks on Johnson that anyone has attempted. In effect, he said Johnson lacked leadership in foreign affairs. He had worked with President John F. Kennedy and, briefly, with Johnson.

He called Johnson "gullible" for "passively" accepting the judgment of the State and Defense departments. On CBS's television program "Face the Nation" Schlesinger was asked what else Johnson could do since he can't go to Viet Nam.

Schlesinger said "we have elected a president because we think his judgment is better. President Johnson's trouble is lack of self-confidence that he does not appear to have."

He said some members of the American intellectual community do not so much question Johnson's "purposes but fear that he is not in personal control of his government as presidents like Kennedy and Roosevelt were."

This was all vague. Schlesinger was just as obscure when, trying to say something pleasant about Johnson, he said he thinks Johnson's "instincts ... goals ... and objectives in Viet Nam are right."

Right now? He didn't say. Nor did he say how Johnson's goals and objectives differ from those of the State and Defense departments. He got specific on just about one point.

That was Johnson's trip last February to Honolulu to meet South Viet Nam's Premier Nguyen Cao Ky. Schlesinger was critical here, too, saying Johnson had let the State Department convince him Ky was popular in Viet Nam. But on what would Johnson base his judgment if he couldn't depend on Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara?

Later, on ABC's television-radio program "Issues and Answers," Rusk was asked about the Schlesinger criticism but brushed it off, saying, in short, the historian was shooting his mouth off without being informed. He said "we have facts."

"Mr. Schlesinger," Rusk said, "is not an expert on Asia. He took a very small role in Asian questions when he was in the government. I worked on Asia for 25 years and I don't think I'm going to get into a discussion with Mr. Schlesinger on Asia."

Rusk said he, Johnson and McNamara, with the full backing of men who have spent their lives working on Asia, try to make the best judgments they can.

Schlesinger was — and wasn't — in agreement with Fulbright, chairman of the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee. The senator has been endlessly critical of Johnson's Viet Nam policies.

But his most recent attack, a speech last week, not only was vague but seemed to have its roots in negativism.

This was the point he tried to make: A powerful county like this can't do much to help a backward Asian country develop an orderly life. At the same time he warned the United States against feeling self-righteous and equating power with virtue.

Schlesinger said he is in sympathy with much Fulbright has said — he didn't say what, specifically — but dismissed the senator's argument that this country might be equating power with virtue.

He said that might have been true in the days of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's administration but now

Trenton, N.J. Mayor Moved to Mixed Area

By JAMES H. RUBIN
TRENTON, N.J. (AP) —

Mayor Arthur J. Holland — who made headlines by moving to a racially mixed neighborhood — seeks a new term of office Tuesday in an election in which the Negro vote could be pivotal.

The 47-year-old mayor says he might lose votes among "some white people" who consider him an integrationist, but he insists his record is the key issue and will withstand any "white backlash."

Holland also said he has heard rumors that some Negroes would oppose him because they regard his change in residence as a grandstand play to gain Negro votes. He discounted this as "illogical and unrealistic."

"There are some Negro leaders who oppose me because I'm too independent," he said in an interview, but he expressed confidence the majority of Negroes would support him.

Apart from the racial question, campaign issues have included birth control, urban renewal and management of the antipoverty program.

Polls indicate Holland's opponent, Carmen J. Arment, 37, a city councilman the past four years, has made inroads into the Negro and Italian vote.

Holland moved two years ago from an area that bordered on an Italian section to a neighborhood that is about half white. Other residents are Negro and Puerto Rican.

Holland said he bought the house in hope of halting deterioration eating away at much of Trenton, and because his wife, Betty, wanted an old home that could be restored to authentic early American style.

Holland has had strong support from Italians in past elections. Now some observers believe Arment, an Italian, will draw off some of that support.

Holland entered city government 15 years ago when he was appointed deputy director of the public affairs department. He was elected to the city commission in 1955 and became mayor in 1959 when he won more votes than anyone else in the commission election.

He led a fight to change the commission system and strengthen the mayor's position, then became Trenton's first mayor under the new form of government in 1962.

He received about 17,400 votes in that election, 10,000 more than his closest competitor. There were 54,000 registered voters, including 8,000 Negroes.

An election official who is backing Arment estimates that about 4,000 Negroes voted in 1962 and that probably three fourths were for Holland.

Although voter registration has decreased by 5,000 since then, registration of Negro voters has increased to more than 11,000. Both camps acknowledge the Negro vote could be decisive in a close race.

SBA Head Raised in Small Town

By SEYMOUR RM. HERSH
WASHINGTON (AP) —

President Johnson's nominee to head the Small Business Administration was born in a small town, went to a small college and spent much of his life as a small businessman.

But Bernard L. Boutin's family is anything but small. He and his wife, Alice, have 10 children. "They're a lot of fun," Boutin, 42, said with a laugh as he proudly displayed a large family portrait in his office.

Beside the Boutin family picture is a photograph of the Johnson family, inscribed with personal greetings from the President and Mrs. Johnson.

"I have a very good relationship with the President," Boutin said in an interview. "I intend to operate the SBA with a free hand — but my boss is the President."

Johnson announced the nomination Sunday. Senate confirmation is required.

The stocky, square-jawed Boutin was brought into the government by President John F. Kennedy in 1961 and earned a reputation as a hard-nosed administrator while serving as head of the General Services Administration and, for the past seven months, as deputy director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, the antipoverty organization.

Many sources agree, however, that Boutin will have his work cut out for him in the SBA, which has been without a director since last fall and has cut back some loan programs.

Wednesday, May 11, 1966

"We've just been floating along," said one SBA official who did not want to be named. "Everybody's been a little reluctant to do anything."

Boutin said he's "small business oriented. I own the majority of my adult life in New Hampshire and even started my own business from scratch."

"I know what it is to meet a payroll, to try to borrow money and how hard it is to establish lines of credit," he said.

A native of Belmont, N.H., Boutin attended St. Michael's college in Winooski, Vt. Most of his business experience was gained in Laconia, N.H., where he served two terms as mayor and was a partner in an insurance agency, a real estate firm and a variety store.

Largest university library is that of Harvard.

Bureaucrats No Substitute for Craftsmen

As one who has spent his whole adult life around machines your editor can't see how the introduction of a swarm of political appointees in Detroit's automobile factories is going to make cars any safer.

Machines are built by engineers and craftsmen — not by slick-talking coffee-house politicians.

Besides, the theory of federal intervention in private manufacturing has worked so poorly to date that it is highly likely additional political interference will only make matters worse.

Today's federal government is strongly oriented in favor of organized labor, with hundreds of inspectors and mediators patrolling the factories. But there is a rising tide of complaints from the public which buys the factories' products that quality control has slipped and machines show up with inexcusable mistakes in workmanship.

If this is true of the whole manufacturing picture what benefits can we possibly expect from the politicians' interference in the vastly more serious field of auto safety design — a highly technical area usually reserved for engineers? You may remark at this point: "But the automobile companies have dropped their opposition and will go along with the government's safety program. How come?"

The plain facts are, in private business you have to make a living. I suspect the automobile companies, weighing the added cost of political interference in design, anticipate a hefty price increase for cars will be in order — and so they are going along with the government's political blackmail in order to get a green light for the increase.

You, Mr. Stupid, have asked for it. And matters will get definitely worse and more expensive until you finally wake up and begin scratching the names of all the Big Spenders on Election Day.

Sorensen Winner in Nebraska

By SEYMOUR HERSH
Associated Press Writer
Nebraska Lt. Gov. Philip C. Sorensen and West Virginian John D. Rockefeller IV moved their family homes back into the political spotlight today after strong victories in Tuesday's primary elections.

Sorensen, 32, brother of former presidential aide Theodore C. Sorensen, won the Democratic nomination for governor in Nebraska by a wide margin. His Republican opponent in November will be political newcomer Norbert T. Tiemann, a small-town banker. Three other candidates finished far behind.

Tiemann, little known outside banking circles until six months ago, overwhelmed former third-term Republican Gov. Val Peterson.

Rockefeller, nephew of Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and son of John D. Rockefeller III, chairman of the Rockefeller Foundation, led a 56-man Kanawha County (Charleston) ticket in winning a Democratic nomination for the West Virginia House of Delegates.

The 28-year-old bachelor, who has been an antipoverty program social worker for the past 19 months near Charleston, changed his party registration to Democrat earlier this year.

The Rockefeller-Sorensen elections topped primaries that also included a spate of congressional races and two battles for senatorial nominations.

Revolutionary Group to Form

HAVANA (AP) — The tricontinental revolutionary organization's 12-member secretariat, charged with fomenting revolution in Asia, Africa and Latin America, will be formally organized in Havana later this month, the organization's secretary-general said Monday night.

Osmany Cienfuegos said the secretariat will work to carry out resolutions adopted at the tricontinental conference of revolutionaries held in Havana in January.

Fallout From China Bomb Stronger

By EUGENE LEVIN

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese scientists reported today that radio-active fallout from Red China's latest atomic blast was as much as 33 times stronger than that from Peking's previous two tests.

The findings bore out reports from Washington that preliminary data indicated China's third nuclear blast was its largest to far.

China's first two tests in October 1964 and May 1965 were equivalent to about 20,000 tons of TNT — the size of the first U.S. atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima in 1945.

The highest readings from the third test came from Niigata University in Niigata, on the Japanese seacoast opposite the Chinese mainland.

Prof. Takao Kosaka estimated the radioactivity in particles of dust was a little more than 33 times as intense as that in China's second nuclear test.

He reported dust particles contained a maximum of 1.5 million tiny units of radioactivity, compared with a maximum of 45,000 in China's second test.

Kosaka said such a radioactivity might be to people and might seriously contaminate vegetables.

By EUGENE LEVIN

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese scientists reported today that the radioactive fallout from China's latest atomic explosion was twice as strong as that from Peking's previous tests.

The measurements made at Niigata, across the Sea of Japan from the Chinese mainland, bore out reports from Washington that preliminary data indicated China's third nuclear blast was its biggest so far.

China's first two tests in October 1964 and May 1965 were equivalent to about 20,000 tons of TNT — the size of the first U.S. atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima in 1945.

Adenauer Returns From Israeli

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Konrad Adenauer flew home today after a week-long visit aimed at improving relations between Israel and West Germany.

The former German Chancellor's departure was delayed 20 minutes after a warning that explosives might be hidden in the freight aboard the plane. The crew found nothing suspicious.

Before leaving, Adenauer had an unscheduled talk with Israeli Premier Levi Eshkol who later accompanied him to the airport.

In This Troubled World the Habit of Talking to Self Is Matter of Social Necessity

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments by a Pavement Plato:

Do you talk to yourself? There was a time when only the very young and the very old talked to themselves. The practice was regarded as a sign of either childishness or senility. That is no longer true.

Talking to one's self is so universal now that it can hardly be classified as an indication of mental disturbance.

The habit simply is a matter of social necessity.

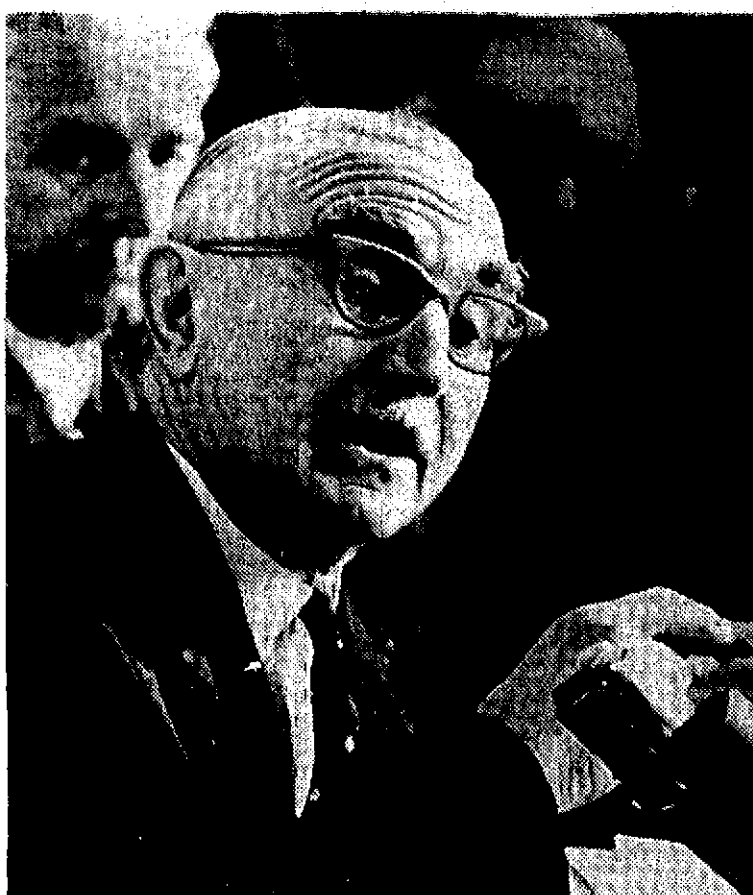

The reason that more people are talking to themselves is that nobody else will listen to them.

Listening is at least half the art of conversation; conversation has died out as a modern art simply because there are no good listeners left.

If you try to give a waiter a menu order in a restaurant, he is off to tell it to the chief before you can finish uttering it. He won't wait to hear you through. That is why he returns from the kitchen with a boiled egg instead of the broiled veal you wanted.

You absent-mindedly greet an acquaintance with the conventional query, "What's new?" He absently replies, "Just fine. How are things with you?"

The absurdity of this response doesn't strike either of you, because he didn't hear your question — and you didn't hear his answer.

SENATORIAL SQUABBLE—The administration's difficulties with Capitol Hill critics of its Viet Nam policies flared anew with a squabble between senators at Foreign Relations Committee hearings on foreign aid. Agitation by Buddhists Stirs Anew

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

SAIGON (AP) — Fresh Buddhist agitation was reported today in units of the Vietnamese army as Premier Nguyen Cao Ky repeated his prediction that he and his military government will remain in power at least another year.

Informed sources said Buddhist chaplains were stirring up troops against the government in the 1st and 2nd Corps areas. Both are north of Saigon, toward the frontier with Communist North Viet Nam.

Name Calling Instigated by Johnson

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jim Johnson brightened the prospects for a red-hot Democratic gubernatorial primary Tuesday night by jumping to name-calling on the first state radio and television appearance of the race.

Two of the other seven candidates were put into the race by the "machine" behind Gov. Orval Faubus, and a third is a "specks peddler" whom the machine can't trust, Johnson said.

And Johnson pointed out that he was the same man who was labeled a segregationist in his unsuccessful try for the governorship in 1956.

"On the issues of those days I stand before you tonight with my head bloody but unbowed," Johnson said. "Principles do not change. Jim Johnson has not changed."

Three other Democratic candidates were publically active Tuesday.

Brooks Hays called for teacher pay increases, Raymond Rebsamen said he is trying to get Gen. Douglas MacArthur's wartime plane for display at Little Rock's MacArthur Park, and Kenneth Sulcer attacked a pension plan for members of three quasi-judicial state commissions.

Records show that William J. Smith, whom Johnson said directed the power structure behind Faubus, is one of nine men who have joined the plan. He became eligible for the plan as a member of the Workmen's Compensation Commission in the early 1940s.

Zoning to Get Rosie the Duck

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Zoning officials say this is the last day of leniency for Rosie the duck. But the Carmine Giorgi family is determined to keep the year-old quacker and her duckling playmate.

Rosie reportedly wakes up neighbors at 4:30 in the morning and the Metro Building and Zoning Department ordered the Giorgios to get rid of Rosie by today.

The Giorgio children, Franca, 13, and Ava, 7, sent a petition to the zoning department with names of 20 neighbors who said they had no objection to Rosie. But the department stuck to its ruling.

The Giorgio children say they've talked a friend into keeping Rosie and her playmate until the heat's off.

LSD Users Could Be Fined, Jailed

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Persons who sniff airplane glue or take LSD without authorization are subject to a six-month jail sentence and a $299 fine under an ordinance passed Tuesday by the Salt Lake City Commission.

The ordinance was requested after more than 1,000 empty glue tubes were found in a shack used as a hangout by teenagers.

Declares U.S. Tempers Power With Restraint

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — President Johnson said today "our great power is tempered by great restraint" in Southeast Asia and elsewhere.

"What nation has announced such limited objectives or such willingness to remove its military presence once those objectives are achieved?" Johnson asked in a speech prepared for delivery at Princeton University.

"What nation has spent the lives of its sons and vast sums of its fortune to provide the people of a small striving nation the chance to elect a course we might not ourselves choose?" Johnson came to Princeton to speak at dedication ceremonies at a new hall at the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs.

His speech put heavy emphasis on the role of scholars in government.

Big Pensions Criticized by Candidate

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Kenneth Sulcer said Tuesday that if he was governor he would try to repeal a 1965 act which makes members of certain state commissions eligible for pensions of up to $6,000 a year.

The Democratic candidate for governor was attacking Act 148 of 1965, the Quasi-Judicial Retirement System.

Nine men, including William J. Smith, Gov. Faubus' legal adviser and legislative aide, have joined the pension plan.

Two of them, Ernest Maner of Benton, a former member of the Workmen's Compensation Commission, and John H. Greene of Little Rock, a former member of the state Commerce Commission, have already retired under the act's disability provision at one-fourth pay.

Countdown Rehearsal Successful

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — With an excellent countdown rehearsal behind them, the Gemini 9 astronauts today planned a day-long series of test runs for next Tuesday's launching.

Air Force Lt. Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan were to make simulated launchings and practice emergency procedures and key aspects of the three-day orbital flight, including a make-believe rendezvous with an Agena target satellite.

Stafford and Cernan Tuesday suited up and crawled into their spacecraft as launch teams conducted a flawless double countdown on the Titan 2 rocket that is to hoist Gemini 9 into space and the Atlas which is to lift the Agena.

Mrs. Leone retired Feb. 1. Miss McLaughlin has been regional nurse consultant for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare at Charlottesville, Va. since 1952.

Planes Drive Gun-Running Ship Aground

By ROBERT D. TUCKMAN
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. ships and planes aided by the South Vietnamese air force and navy drove a gun-running coastal freighter ashore at the southern tip of South Viet Nam Tuesday night and broke it in two.

American and Vietnamese frogmen seized large quantities of weapons and ammunition, some with Soviet markings, after the 100-ton freighter broke up on the Ca Mau Peninsula 200 miles southwest of Saigon.

The freighter's port of origin was not immediately determined.

Military officials said it was the most important interception of seaborne arms since a mysterious 135-foot vessel was sunk on the central coast Feb. 16, 1965. A huge cache of arms was recovered then.

In the ground war, American paratroopers of the 101st Airborne clashed with a battalion of North Vietnamese regular army troops 95 miles northeast of Saigon, the U.S. Command said today.

An official spokesman said the paratroopers killed 22 of the estimated 300 Communists and captured four. Light U.S. casualties were reported.

Increased air activity Tuesday was reported both north and south of the 17th Parallel dividing Viet Nam, and two U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs were shot down over North Viet Nam.

The Whisky Rebellion Strike Ends

NEW YORK (AP) — The "whisky rebellion" strike that knocked out part of the Long Island Rail Road's service is over.

"Everything's going beautifully," a railroad spokesman said today. He said all train crews had reported on time and trains were moving normally.

The railroad said supervisory personnel had worked through the night getting things ready.

A Long Island Rail Road executive luncheon Tuesday, at which liquor was served, triggered the strike during Tuesday evening's rush hour by diesel trainmen protesting earlier punishment of crewmen for drinking beer with their lunch.

The strike hit about 15,000 commuters trying to proceed Long Island.

A federal judge issued a back-to-work order, and a union spokesman said Tuesday night: "We will obey the court order. We are calling all our men and telling them to report for work."

Wet and windy weather swept wide areas of the Midwest from the Mississippi River to the Rockies today and unseasonable cold continued in eastern sections of the nation.

Cold air from the eastern slopes of the northern Rockies collided with a large mass of warm moist air from the Gulf of Mexico in the Plains, setting off the stormy weather.

Rain, with gusty winds, fell in colder air across the north central states, with indications of snow in some areas. The Weather Bureau issued warnings to stockmen in eastern South Dakota and southwestern Minnesota.

Politics in Viet Nam May Force Reserve Callup

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today if a new emergency flares while war rages in South Viet Nam, the United States may have to summon military Reservists to active duty.

But McNamara told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee he does not expect any Reserve callup this year.

The secretary testified at a televised renewal of the committee hearings on President Johnson's foreign aid bill, but the talk swiftly turned to the war in Viet Nam.

"We are prepared, militarily prepared, to meet our political commitments," McNamara told Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., the committee chairman.

Fulbright opened the new round in the inquiry by asking McNamara for a report on the adequacy of U.S. military manpower.

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today political disorder in South Viet Nam has reduced the effectiveness of U.S. military operations.

However, McNamara told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee this "reduced effectiveness in recent weeks will terminate shortly."

As a measure of the reduced effectiveness, the Pentagon chief said the number of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese fatalities fell about 50 per cent in the first three months of the year.
